Excerpt: . . . at the morning meetings and Mrs. C. B. Kennedy at those in the afternoon. At night a lantern lecture was given at the War Camp Community Club. The audience was most gratifying, from the point of numbers. On the following day the Trenton Society promoted a Tag Day jointly for local work and for that of the American Red Star. It was a splendid success, workers being numerous and enthusiastic. The best stores in Trenton gave up valuable window space for Red Star poster displays and the mounted police did a big business in the sale of tags. Officer Thiel, in particular, was a clever salesman and his fine bay horse was made a great picture with the aid of Red Star decorations. Trenton has the women who are capable of developing a very big humane work. Lectures were given at Brighton, N. J. , on October 28, at Woodbury on October 29 and at Harrisburg. in conjunction with the Pennsylvania State Convention, on October 30. At Woodbury addresses were given in five schools, two of them being schools for colored children. Combined with The National Humane Journal, Founded in 1870 PUBLISHED MONTHLY BY The American Humane Association. Albany, New York, U. S. A. A Humane Society has been organized by teachers in this school with 8 membership of 600 among the teachers in training and 1500 among the pupils in the model school. This in a step forward in Humane Education which should be...
