Return to those thrilling days of yesteryear - the 1950s - when the big entertainment was at the State Theater, featuring Ma and Pa Kettle and Francis the Talking Mule. This is the true story of life in small town America, one kids experience of growing up in a large Irish Catholic family of 10 kids with all the required ritualistic Catholic ceremonies. Formal schooling started for this youngster with a 3-year stretch in the joint at St. Aloysius Military Academy, marching to the tune of some of the sweetest old ladies dressed in black. Followed by those exciting days at St. Teresas, run by two of the toughest Sisters of Charity in the system, Sister Mary Raphael, a. k. a. Bucky Beaver, the principal, and her sidekick, Sister Augustine, up against Woody and his fun loving instigator pal. It is a fast moving and funny story of numerous mishaps by a carefree fiftys kid. A kid who accidentally freezes his spirited horse, Shorty, gets canned as an altar boy after one long week, becomes a young entrepreneur selling dirt. There are stories about camping out, Boy Scouts, BB guns, Irish Nannies, Nuns in charge, ringing the holy fire bell at St. Teresas. Then there is a description of what life was like before McDonalds. There is never a dull moment. Its a childhood autobiography filled with memorable surprises. Learn, as I did, everything youll ever need to know about f growing up from Woody, the street-smart Italian kid that somehow knew how life really worked. Woody was a true biker from the 4th grade on. Enjoy reliving the...
