American Catholics should understand clearly the teachings of their faith, namely, that the church is not a republic or democracy, but a monarchy; that all her authority is from above and rests in her hierarchy, that while the faithful of the laity have divinely given rights to receive all blessed ministrations of the church, they have absolutely no right whatever to rule and govern. Such is the essential constitution of the church given her by Jesus Christ, who placed all the powers and rights of government in His visible kingdom on earth, both in things temporal and things spiritual, exclusively into the hands of her visible Head, the Pope, and of her visible rulers, the bishops. Hence we declared as absolutely false the opinion holding that church bodies or congregations to whom civil authorities have granted the power of acquiring administering and alienating temporalities may exercise these powers independently of the ecclesiastical authority Nor can the lay people claim any right of interfering on the plea that their money has built the church, school, priest house, etc., and that these properties belong to them and that therefore they have the right of saying how this property shall be administered. This is a thoroughly Protestant principle. Brownson s Review in 1858 said: The Church is a kingdom and a power, and as such must have a supreme chief (pope) and this authority is to be exercised over States, as well as individuals. If the...
